Testimonial: "My students had the most wonderful time. I was able to share the video with all my 6th graders today. Thank you for a truly unforgettable experience." - Amy Padilla, Principal at RCSD, East Palo Alto, after 25 students participated in Women of Aviation Week, met several Latina aviators and experienced free flights in general aviation aircraft.,

Daughter of Mexican immigrants, Graciela Tiscareño-Sato was recently honored by The White House as a Champion of Change, Woman Veteran Leader. She is CEO and Founder of Gracefully Global Group LLC, which publishes multicultural, educational books and eBooks for K – College readers showcasing positive contributions of highly-educated Latinos in the USA. She’s won four international book awards for Latinnovating: Green American Jobs and the Latinos Creating Them [www.Latinnovating.com]. Recently released Good Night Captain Mama/Buenas Noches Capitán Mamá [www.CaptainMama.com], the first bilingual children’s book about women serving in the military, was inspired by Graciela’s service as an Air Force KC-135 navigator and instructor. She received an Air Medal for combat air operations over Iraq. Her aspirational literature sparks imaginations and presents educated minority role models in 21st century professions.

Graciela serves as a bilingual STEM consultant for K-12 educators serving diverse student populations and parent communities. Partnering with professionals in STEM fields, she brings students to aviation and technology experiences so they’ll aspire far beyond their current circumstances. She presents at parent workshops to provide long-term views of higher education where needed. Graciela completed both AFROTC Aerospace Studies and her bachelor degree in Environmental Design/Architecture from U.C. Berkeley; she earned her master degree in international business management at Whitworth University while stationed in Washington.

Graciela is a sought-after keynote speaker for audiences seeking differentiated, motivational leadership content; as co-founder of the new National Women Veterans Speakers Bureau [WomenVetsSpeak.com], she amplifies the voices of her fellow women veterans.
