Targeted branding via Latino Literature

Event planners and Agencies: are you looking for unique, branded gifts for your client's next conference?

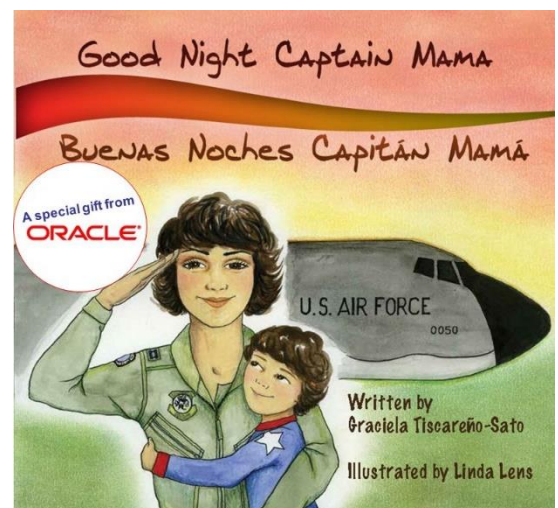

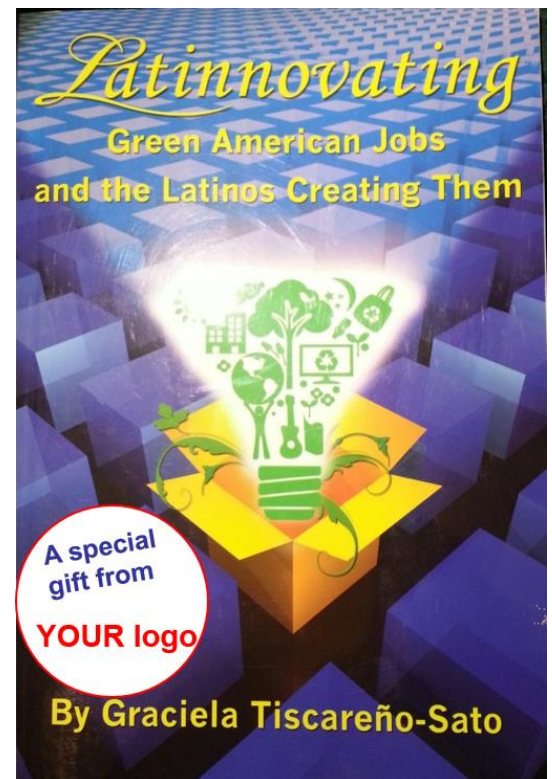

Brands: are you looking for an economical way to put your brand in front of specific audiences (Latino consumer segments, military veterans, etc) and keep it there for years? While also accomplishing community outreach goals?

Look no further - simply sponsor our award-winning books for your next event! You'll provide memorable, branded gifts and keep your brand circulating in the communities you wish to reach for years. Call us to discuss your next event and this unique offering.

Imagine YOUR brand or logo on a glossy sticker, gifted to every attendee of your next ERG event, conference, membership event or wherever you've invited the author to speak. Remember: books get passed around from friend to friend - it's a marketing tactic with a LONG shelf life.

Sponsors and Philanthropists: Graciela is frequently asked to present in Spanish (and English) at schools around the nation, to spark the imaginations of children who need the most motivation to strive in school, against all odds and in a language they're still learning. You can sponsor copies of this book, with or without your name and brand, as gifts for these students.

Please call us for details and indicate you want books to be donated in your name or someone else's name.
